They lobbied for great hotel design.
We were happy to oblige.

When we were approached by General Hotels Corporation with this challenge — give their Homewood Suites hotel in Munster, Indiana, a look that would attract millennials — we took it on with gusto.

The result? An upscale, contemporary hotel look with all the comforts of

The result? An upscale, contemporary hotel look with all the comforts of home. Like cool with a side of mashed potatoes. Not only do millennials love it, but families flock to this location. The combination of family-friendly accommodations with a hip feel have resulted in rave reviews for this northern Indiana facility.
